

Amy Connor

Amy Connor is a lifelong library patron whose love of books and reading was first nurtured at the Port Jefferson Free Library. During her long career as an actress she made sure to obtain a library card whenever she performed in another city or town, and she still has her New York City Public Library card. Since moving to the village sixteen years ago, she and her family have been faithful visitors to the Northport-East Northport Public Library. Her three children grew up attending Children's Programs and were frequent Teen Volunteers. It's her great desire to give back to the organization that has enriched her family's lives.

Amy has an undergraduate degree in Arts Management from Bucknell University, a certificate in Fundraising from New York University, and additional fundraising education from Hofstra University. Before leaving the workplace to raise her children, she was the owner of a special events company in NYC that handled weddings and other high profile events for celebrities, companies, and non-profits. For the past 20 years she's been a mom and a community volunteer in many capacities. She's currently president of the Northport High School PTSA, president of the Northport High School Robotics Booster Club, Co-Chair of the Northport Pre-Prom Committee, and a volunteer for the annual Saint Baldrick's fundraiser. After receiving a scholarship to attend the prestigious Highlights Foundation workshops, she's completing the final draft of her first novel. She directs plays and musicals at Commack HS and Mount Sinai HS, and especially enjoys working with teenagers. Her goal is to use all her experience as a manager, a fundraiser, a business owner, a reader, an author, a Long Island native, a volunteer, an educator, and a parent to not only further the mission of the Library, but to enhance it and continue to increase its service to our community.
