Midnight Rum: Long Island & Prohibition

(N) Monday, September 11, 7:00 p.m.

From New York City in the west to the coastal villages on the North and South Forks, prohibition affected nearly everyone living on Long Island during the time period of 1920-33. The "noble experiment" was rooted in activism by temperance advocates who sought to first limit alcohol consumption and then to ban it entirely. Assistant Curator of the Long Island Museum Jonathan Olly will discuss this fascinating period in history in America and Long Island.
