Have you ever been in the audience watching a play or a musical and thought "Gee, I bet I could do that!" Well, here's your chance to try it out (or if you already have stage experience, to strut your stuff!)

Join members of the Northport Community Theater for an evening of interactive theater games and instruction involving audience members of all ages-from tots to seniors. With community theater director Jim Redding, this evening promises to bring you lots of laughs and theater lore along with the opportunity to step out on stage or just sit back and enjoy the experience! In the event of rain, the program will be held in the Library's Community Room and NENPL Library Card holders will be seated first.

N) Wednesday, August 15,

Steel Impressions, the premier steel drum band in the New York area, performs authentic Caribbean music including calypso, reggae, and soca tunes on state-of-the-art steel pans. Bring your family and friends to enjoy the sounds of summer! In the event of rain, the concert will be held in the Library's Community Room and NENPL Library Card holders will be seated first.

Join us as members of The Northport Community Theater stage a night of "Shakespeare Under the Stars" in the Library Courtyard. What could be better than seeing Romeo & Juliet performed with a twist of contemporary sensibility? This familyfriendly production can be enjoyed by all ages. Curtain time is promptly at 7:00 p.m. and the production runs approximately 90 minutes. In the event of rain, the performance will be held in the Library's Community Room and NENPL Library Card holders will be seated first.

The charming beach house materials. In 2002 the George sketch on the front of this news-E. Beatty, Jr. Architecture letter is by architect, painter, and designer Andrew Geller (1924-2011). A longtime resident of Northport, Geller was internationally renowned as a visionary whose designs helped shape the modern aesthetic. In Beach Houses: Andrew Geller, author Alastair Gordon describes Geller's famous creations as "little dream houses that inspired selfexpression and personal freedom." Andrew Geller is among the many architects and artists whose work can be found in the Library's extensive Art and Architecture Collection. In 1961 the Northport Public Library was designated as a repository for art resources as part of a cooperative project with Suffolk County public libraries. Northport's outstanding collection—currently about 10,000 volumes—continues to extend its scope to include an increasingly wider range of media and Collection, dedicated to the memory of Library architect George E. Beatty, Jr., was established through generous donations. American architecture, notable architects, and professional standards are the focus of this special collection located in the Northport Library's Art Mezzanine. On an ongoing basis, our Librarians select a wide spectrum of materials suitable for the art scholar as well as the craftsman and collector. In addition to architecture, the collection includes painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography, with substantial attention paid to history, technique, and criticism. In the field of decorative arts, furniture, ceramics, and crafts are all reflected. Journals, databases, online resources. auction house catalogs, career and employment guides round out this comprehensive collection. Below are some recent additions.
