FOR YOUNG ADULTS

Chris Crutcher Featured at Speaking of Writing Program

Chris Crutcher, recipient of the American Library Association's 2000 Margaret A. Edwards Award for lifetime achievement in writing for young adults, visits the Library on May 15 for our annual Speaking of Writing program. Crutcher's popular novels — Running Loose, Stotan!, Ironman, Athletic Shorts, and Staying Fat for Sarah Byrnes, to name a few — often revolve around school and sports with strong themes of friendship and taking responsibility for one's self. All of his books have been honored by their inclusion on the American Library Association's Best Books for Young Adults list. Chris Crutcher is one of the many award-winning Young Adult authors who have been our guests since the Speaking of Writing program began in 1983. Authors who have appeared in the past include M.E. Kerr, Walter Dean Myers, Richard Peck, and Caroline B. Cooney. Mr. Crutcher will speak to an audience of students selected from the community's middle schools. The students, who have all read at least one of his books prior to the program, will be able to have their books autographed. Chris Crutcher, who began writing at the age of 35, lives in Spokane, Washington, where he works as a child and family therapist. Though he is not a parent, he thinks of himself as "a tribal parent." He believes that "it's every adult's job to help whatever kids he or she can."

Periodically Speaking: Magazines for Children

Did you know that the Library subscribes to over 40 magazines for children at the East Northport and Northport buildings? Magazine titles range from American Girl (celebrating girls) to Zillions (a publication of Consumer Reports). You can choose from publications which feature literature, crafts, science, or sports. Here is a sampling of some of our magazines for children:
Babybug — a periodical for infants and toddlers ages 6 months to 2 years which features rhymes, songs, and poetry on cardboard pages perfect for tiny hands.
Click — a thematic magazine produced by Cricket and the Smithsonian, features stories selected to help children understand social and scientific concepts appropriate for children ages 3-7.
Stone Soup — a 26-year-old literary magazine filled with fiction, poetry, book reviews, and art by children ages 6-13.
Odyssey — a space exploration and astronomy publication for backyard stargazers and budding astronauts ages 8-14.
Shipping Stones — This nonprofit magazine encourages cooperation, creativity, and celebration of cultural diversity through articles submitted by children ages 8 and up.

Baseball Digest & Football Digest — sports fans ages 9 and up can learn about their favorite players as well as check out the latest game schedules and stats.
