Teens often seek volunteer activities to comply with the requirements of their National Honor Society, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, or other similar organizations. Some teens choose to volunteer so that they can add hours toward their community service requirements, to help reduce the summer boredom and build new friendships, or because they enjoy helping children participate in children's summer programs which take place August 14-25. In the month of July.

The theme for the Library’s teen program this month is called “Teen Making a Difference.” To include photos of children involved in their volunteer activities, their families are encouraged to send in their photos. Include the child’s name, age, and other interesting facts. Please send to the Library at least a week in advance.
