Local decorative artist and teacher Susan Kahl displays her collection of hand-painted pieces, which demonstrate different styles of decorative art. Her pieces include traditional folk art, faux finishes, tromp l’oeil, icon painting, and more. Kahl’s work is notable for its attention to detail and the use of vibrant colors. Her collection is a testament to the rich history of decorative art and its evolution over time.

Russell Day is a retired airline pilot who, even after the Library is closed, has continued to pursue his passion for art. After several years of积累, he has created a body of work that reflects his love for airplanes and the history of aviation. His paintings are a testament to the ingenuity and creativity that has driven the industry over the years. He is a member of the Art Guild of Long Island, and his work is often featured in local exhibitions and galleries.

To celebrate its anniversary this year, the Northport-East Northport Public Library is launching an exhibit that covers many areas. In this exhibit, the library shares its history and highlights its collection of materials housed in public libraries throughout the world. The exhibit also features a tile mural that portrays the area’s history, a Bookball sculpture that represents the community’s love for reading, and information about the 90th Anniversary Library Courtyard, which will be expanded to create a welcoming outdoor space.

In addition to the exhibit, the library is planning several events to celebrate its anniversary. These events include monthly displays showcasing the wealth of the Library’s materials, research assistance launched in 2001, provides research assistance to students and researchers, and an online reference service that was established in 2002. The library also plans to expand its services by creating a welcoming outdoor space, which will be dedicated to the 90th Anniversary Library Courtyard.

To participate in the Library’s celebration, patrons are encouraged to call the Library for a taped message or visit the Library’s website at www.neln.lib.ny.us. Information about the events and programs can also be found on the library’s website, and visitors are welcome to stop by and see the exhibits, read a book, or just enjoy the library’s peaceful atmosphere.
