Maria Dabo-Peranic has lived in East Northport since 1994, when she moved to Long Island, she studied at the Art Students League in New York City and the Art League of Long Island. She has explored the Long Island landscape, atmosphere, and architecture. Growing up on Long Island, she has been inspired by the unique qualities of the island’s location — situated between the cool, quiet waters of the Atlantic Ocean and the warm, sunny waters of the Gulf Stream. The island’s coastal geography, temperature, seasons, and culture are a constant source of inspiration.
