Immigration in America: Melting Pot or Salad Bowl?

America has been a "nation of immigrants" for more than 400 years. The vast majority of us can trace our roots to foreign lands. How has America treated its newest residents, and how have they become acculturated and assimilated? How extensive has intermarriage been across ethnic, religious, and racial lines? To what extent has the "American Dream" worked for most immigrants? How can the current immigration debate be examined in the long context of our history?

These are just a few of the issues that will be explored in this fall's six-part discussion series with Michael Libresco-D'Innocenzo of Hofstra University. We will focus on various nationality groups in each program, highlighting the ethnic groups that are most representative of our Northport-East Northport community. Comparisons will be made in regard to the experiences of various groups, and we will explore how our nation compares to others in terms of immigration policies and experiences. Brief and optional background readings will be available at the Reference Desk in both library buildings beginning September 20. All sessions will take place at the Northport Library. No registration required.

Food Preservation at Home: Freezing & Drying

(N) Wednesday, October 2, 7:00 p.m.
Cornell Extension Master Food Preserver Mark Vosburgh returns to present another program in his series on food preservation. This program will include a history of freezing and drying, the benefits of both methods, the basics of each process, step-by-step methods, and equipment requirements. This interactive discussion will provide attendees with a solid understanding of these popular methods for preserving food. No registration required.

Landmarks and Historic Sites of Long Island

(N) Monday, October 7, 7:00 p.m.
Everyone lucky enough to live on Long Island already knows that it's like nowhere else in the world. From light-houses and a 100-year-old carousel to World War II camps and missile sites, author Ralph Brady will take you on a journey into Long Island's past. Through historical commentary and an extensive collection of photographs, Mr. Brady will explore dozens of historic sites. Copies of his book, Landmarks and Historic Sites of Long Island, will be available to purchase. No registration required.

Overcoming Your Barriers to Success

(N) Wednesday, October 30, 7:00 p.m.
It has been said that the only barriers to our success are those that we build ourselves or those we allow others to build around us. Join career development expert Constance Hallinan Lagan who will discuss how to overcome barriers to success by changing your perspective and constructing a new belief system. This seminar will provide you with an opportunity for growth in all areas, including career advancement, business development, and personal relationships. No registration required.

Haunted Long Island

(N) Thursday, October 24, 7:00 p.m.
Join Eco-Photo Explorers as they uncover the spine-tingling stories of Long Island's resident ghosts, ghouls, and monsters. Learn the real story behind "The Amityville Horror," and hear about Oyster Bay's haunted Raynham Hall. We will explore numerous other "hauntings" across Long Island while also examining the stories behind the Montauk Monster and the rumors of strange animal experiments at Plum Island. This is a fun-filled program sure to raise more than a few goosebumps! No registration required.

FOR ADULTS

Staying Independent for Life

(EN) Tuesday, October 1, 9:30 a.m.

GALLERY EXHIBIT

Northport Gallery:

Wood Carvings and Nature Scenes in Traditional Asian Style by Cho, Hyon Hee (Hartberger)
Cho, Hyon Hee (Hartberger) was born in South Korea and studied under master artists Hwajung Kim, Moo-Ho, and Kim Jin Kuk. She has entered numerous artistic competitions in Korea, winning accolades for her style. Cho, Hyon Hee (Hartberger) uses the artist pen name of Hae Jung. She continually works to perfect her own style based upon traditional Asian art principles.

East Northport Gallery & Display Case: Garish Rubbish by Mei-Mei

Why make landfill when we can make art? That's the motto of artist Mei-Mei. A former corporate product designer, Mei-Mei "shops" for her raw materials in a variety of unusual places including parking lots, lost & founds, clearance bins, junk stores, garage sales, and her own backyard. She imaginatively upcycles these found objects to make sock toys, bird houses, and other clever creations.

October is Health Literacy Month

According to the Health Online 2013 survey by the Pew Research Center's Internet & American Life Project, 59% of U.S. adults say they have looked online for health information and 35% have gone online to figure out what medical condition they might have. While there is an abundance of online health information available, do you know how to sort the good from the bad? Finding out the credentials of the authors, who is funding the research or website, when the information was last updated, and who the information is intended for are all factors in finding credible information so that you can have thoughtful conversations with your doctor and make informed decisions.

All About the iPad
 (N) Tuesday, October 8, 7:00 p.m.
 Join Apple-certified trainer John Budacovich to learn about the iPad. This class will cover iPad basics including operation, backups, iCloud, music, the App Store, as well as popular apps you may enjoy. Bring your iPad or iPhone and learn the secrets of getting the most out of your device. Come with your questions and be ready for an interesting and fun evening. No registration required.

SeniorNet: The iPhone Camera
 (N) Thursday, October 17, 4:00 p.m.
 When world-famous photographer Annie Leibovitz was asked in an interview what kind of camera people should buy, she responded "An iPhone." One reason for this is the iPhone's ease of use. Also, there are many photography apps available for the iPhone. Join us to see a demonstration of apps for taking, correcting, and enhancing photos. Many of these apps are also available on Android phones. Bring your smartphone or just join us to listen. No registration required.

Working with Your Digital Photos: Hands On
 (EN) Thursday, October 24, 7:00 p.m.
 You have a digital camera and know how to take pictures, but how do you move the images from the camera to the computer? How do you organize your pictures and edit them? In this class you will learn the answers to these questions and much more. We will cover using an image editing program that allows you to resize, crop, adjust light levels, and more. Learn how to organize, name, and save your pictures. Registration begins October 10 at either library or online. (NENJ089)

Introduction to Computers
 (EN) Tuesday, November 5, 7:00 p.m.
 Designed for the computer novice, this class will help you learn the basics right from the beginning. Learn about using the desktop, working with the mouse, opening and closing programs, understanding Windows elements, and more. Registration begins October 22 at either library or online. (NENJ100)
