A Valued Community Resource Welcomes the Opportunity to Serve

Research by the Institute of Museum and Library Services has identified important changes public libraries are making to address patron needs in an increasingly Internet-centric environment. The research verifies that the nation's public libraries continue to be valued community resources with visitation and circulation increasing solidly over the past decade.

Libraries such as ours have recognized and adapted to new patron demands by drastically increasing the availability of Internet workstations, allocating greater proportions of collection expenditures to electronic materials, and providing a wider range of targeted programs. The library is the essential resource as a knowledge base, empowerment center, and cultural hub for the community. Whatever roles the Library can play in a patron's life, we welcome the opportunity to serve.

Our primary goal as Library Trustees has been to balance excellent library service with judicious use of tax dollars. This has resulted in a 1.6 percent tax increase in the 2010/2011 library tax rate. We urge you to demonstrate the value you place in your Library by voting on April 13.
